

All,
Below is our first carp location map. As you can see, all seven of the carp survived the implantation procedure and are swimming in the lake. Quite remarkable considering I was the surgeons assistant! Tony was on the lake tracking them yesterday and said that all of the signals were easy to pick up and monitor. He did not see any spawning activity yet, but I am sure that will start fairly soon. Tony will return to the lake once the spawn starts to monitor where the carp go to spawn. Jason Wood
