

This is the Carp map from a May 13th inventory. At that point, the carp had not moved much from the previous map. Jason talked to Tony last week and he was thinking of coming out sometime in early to mid June as he believes with the increased water temps and recent rain, the carp will be spawning and we will be able to see where they have moved to.

